When a student has tested HIV positive, it is optional for that person and their family to notify the Superintendent of Schools. Notification of an individual’s positive HIV status does not justify limiting that person’s involvement in the school. Informed individuals will be subject to the requirements of the Rhode Island General Laws 23-6-17 and 5-37.3-7 as well as any other relevant federal and state laws and regulations relating to the confidentiality of health care information. HIV related information cannot be transferred or released except as allowed by Rhode Island General Laws 23-6-17.

Information concerning the identity of a “potentially or confirmed” HIV positive student must be kept confidential in accordance with Rhode Island General Laws 23-6-17; 23-6-18; and 5-37.34. Any written or electronic records containing this information should be kept in a respective file in the appropriate secured area: Student information shall be secured in a locked file in the superintendent’s office and/or in the individuals’ school nurse office, and accessible only to those who have written permission from the “potentially or confirmed” infected person and/or parent/legal guardian.

All District/school employees and/or students who receive this information are bound by state and federal confidentiality laws.

Persons in the school system who may need to know the identity of a “potentially or confirmed” HIV positive student may include: The certified school nurse teacher and/or school physician, especially if acting as a liaison with the potentially or confirmed infected person’s personal physician (in order to monitor the student’s health status). In addition, certain other employees of the Lincoln Public Schools and principal of the potentially or confirmed person may be made aware on a ‘need to know’ and confidential basis.

The decision to inform personnel should not be made without the consent of the student affected, the school nurse and the parent/guardian, if applicable and, a signed “release of information” shall be completed by the potentially or confirmed person/parent. A consultation with the potentially or confirmed persons’ physician is recommended.

Due to confidentiality, staff will not be made aware if a student is HIV positive. Therefore, it is critical that Universal Precautions are practiced.

All students will be taught annually the nature, transmission, and prevention of HIV/AIDS.

A copy of this policy will be included in each student handbook, which is distributed annually.
